The wheat crop throughout Northern Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, and elsewhere, has been greatly damaged by rust and blight. A gentleman from the Northern part of this State told us lest night, the Northern part of this State told us last night, that wheat never looked better than it does at the present time. He took particular pains to ascertain, and we consider his statement entirely reliable. It is his opinion that the crops in the Northern part of the State will yield largely.

The telegraph reports an improvement in the New York wheat market. Our own market was quite active yesterday, and prices were tending upwards. The weather was quite warm all day, with a light, shower or two in the afternoon. with a light shower or two in the afternoon.

How ABOUT THAT !- The Columbus Journal ventures the opinion that the editor of the News was not "at home" when the Anti-Lecompton articles, which have recently appeared in that paper, were written. The Crops.

We take the following letters from the Chicamostly from farmers, and we presume are perfactly reliable:

ROCKFORD, July 19 As the public mind should be kept well in-formed on a subject of so much importance as the prospect of the incoming crop, I send you the result of my observations during the past week. My range of examination extends through week. My range of examination extends infouga-the section of country intermediate between Rockford and Beloit. Presuming you were anxious to get correct information in regard to the crops (if you had any) we take the liberty to sendyou a few lines with reference to the crops in this vicinity.—Wheat is a failure here—there are many fields of from one to three hundred acres, of which not one acre in ten will be worth cutting, if any at all. We will guarantee that you can purchase at all. We will guarantee that you can purchase ten thousand acres of wheat for as many dollar-in forty-eight hours time. We do not think the seed sorm will be saved from the crop, taking a raising of twenty miles around. We have not heard of one piece of oats from which any grair can be reasonably avented. heard of one piece of oats from which any grain can be reasonably expected, even grass is said to have no seed in the head. There was a gross failure of seed corn—but where corn came up well and the ground was rolling, it looks better than usual, but there is a large proportion of corn that is on low, fist land, such corn is all backward, and the ground is foul. A late fall, with favorable weather, will produce an average corn crop. Yours, Paarr & Beoffees.

The wheat crop has been seriously damaged in this and adjoining counties, by the rust. The weevil has also made its appearance, and is doing considerable damage. I have made inquiries of many of the moet substantial and intelligent farmers about here, and they inform me that, although an unusually large amount of wheat was sown last fall, there will not be more than half a crop, owing to these two causes. The corn, cats, barley and potatoes are looking fine, and promise an abundant harvest.
